The church liturgical season after Pentecost is called ORDINARY TIME (or TRINITY season) and lasts up to 29 weeks until Advent. This season concludes with "Christ the King Sunday" which is the last Sunday before the beginning of Advent. The term, "ordinary" does not mean "usual or average", but it is the part of the church liturgical year that falls outside of Lent/Easter and Advent/Christmas. During this season, we celebrate the mystery of Christ and the work of the Holy Spirit in the day to day life of the Christian (sanctification). The cross is draped with a GREEN sash, symbolizing life and hope, and the growth of God's kingdom in the world.
